

YES FOLK

MAGAZINE

CHRISTMAS
• 1918 •

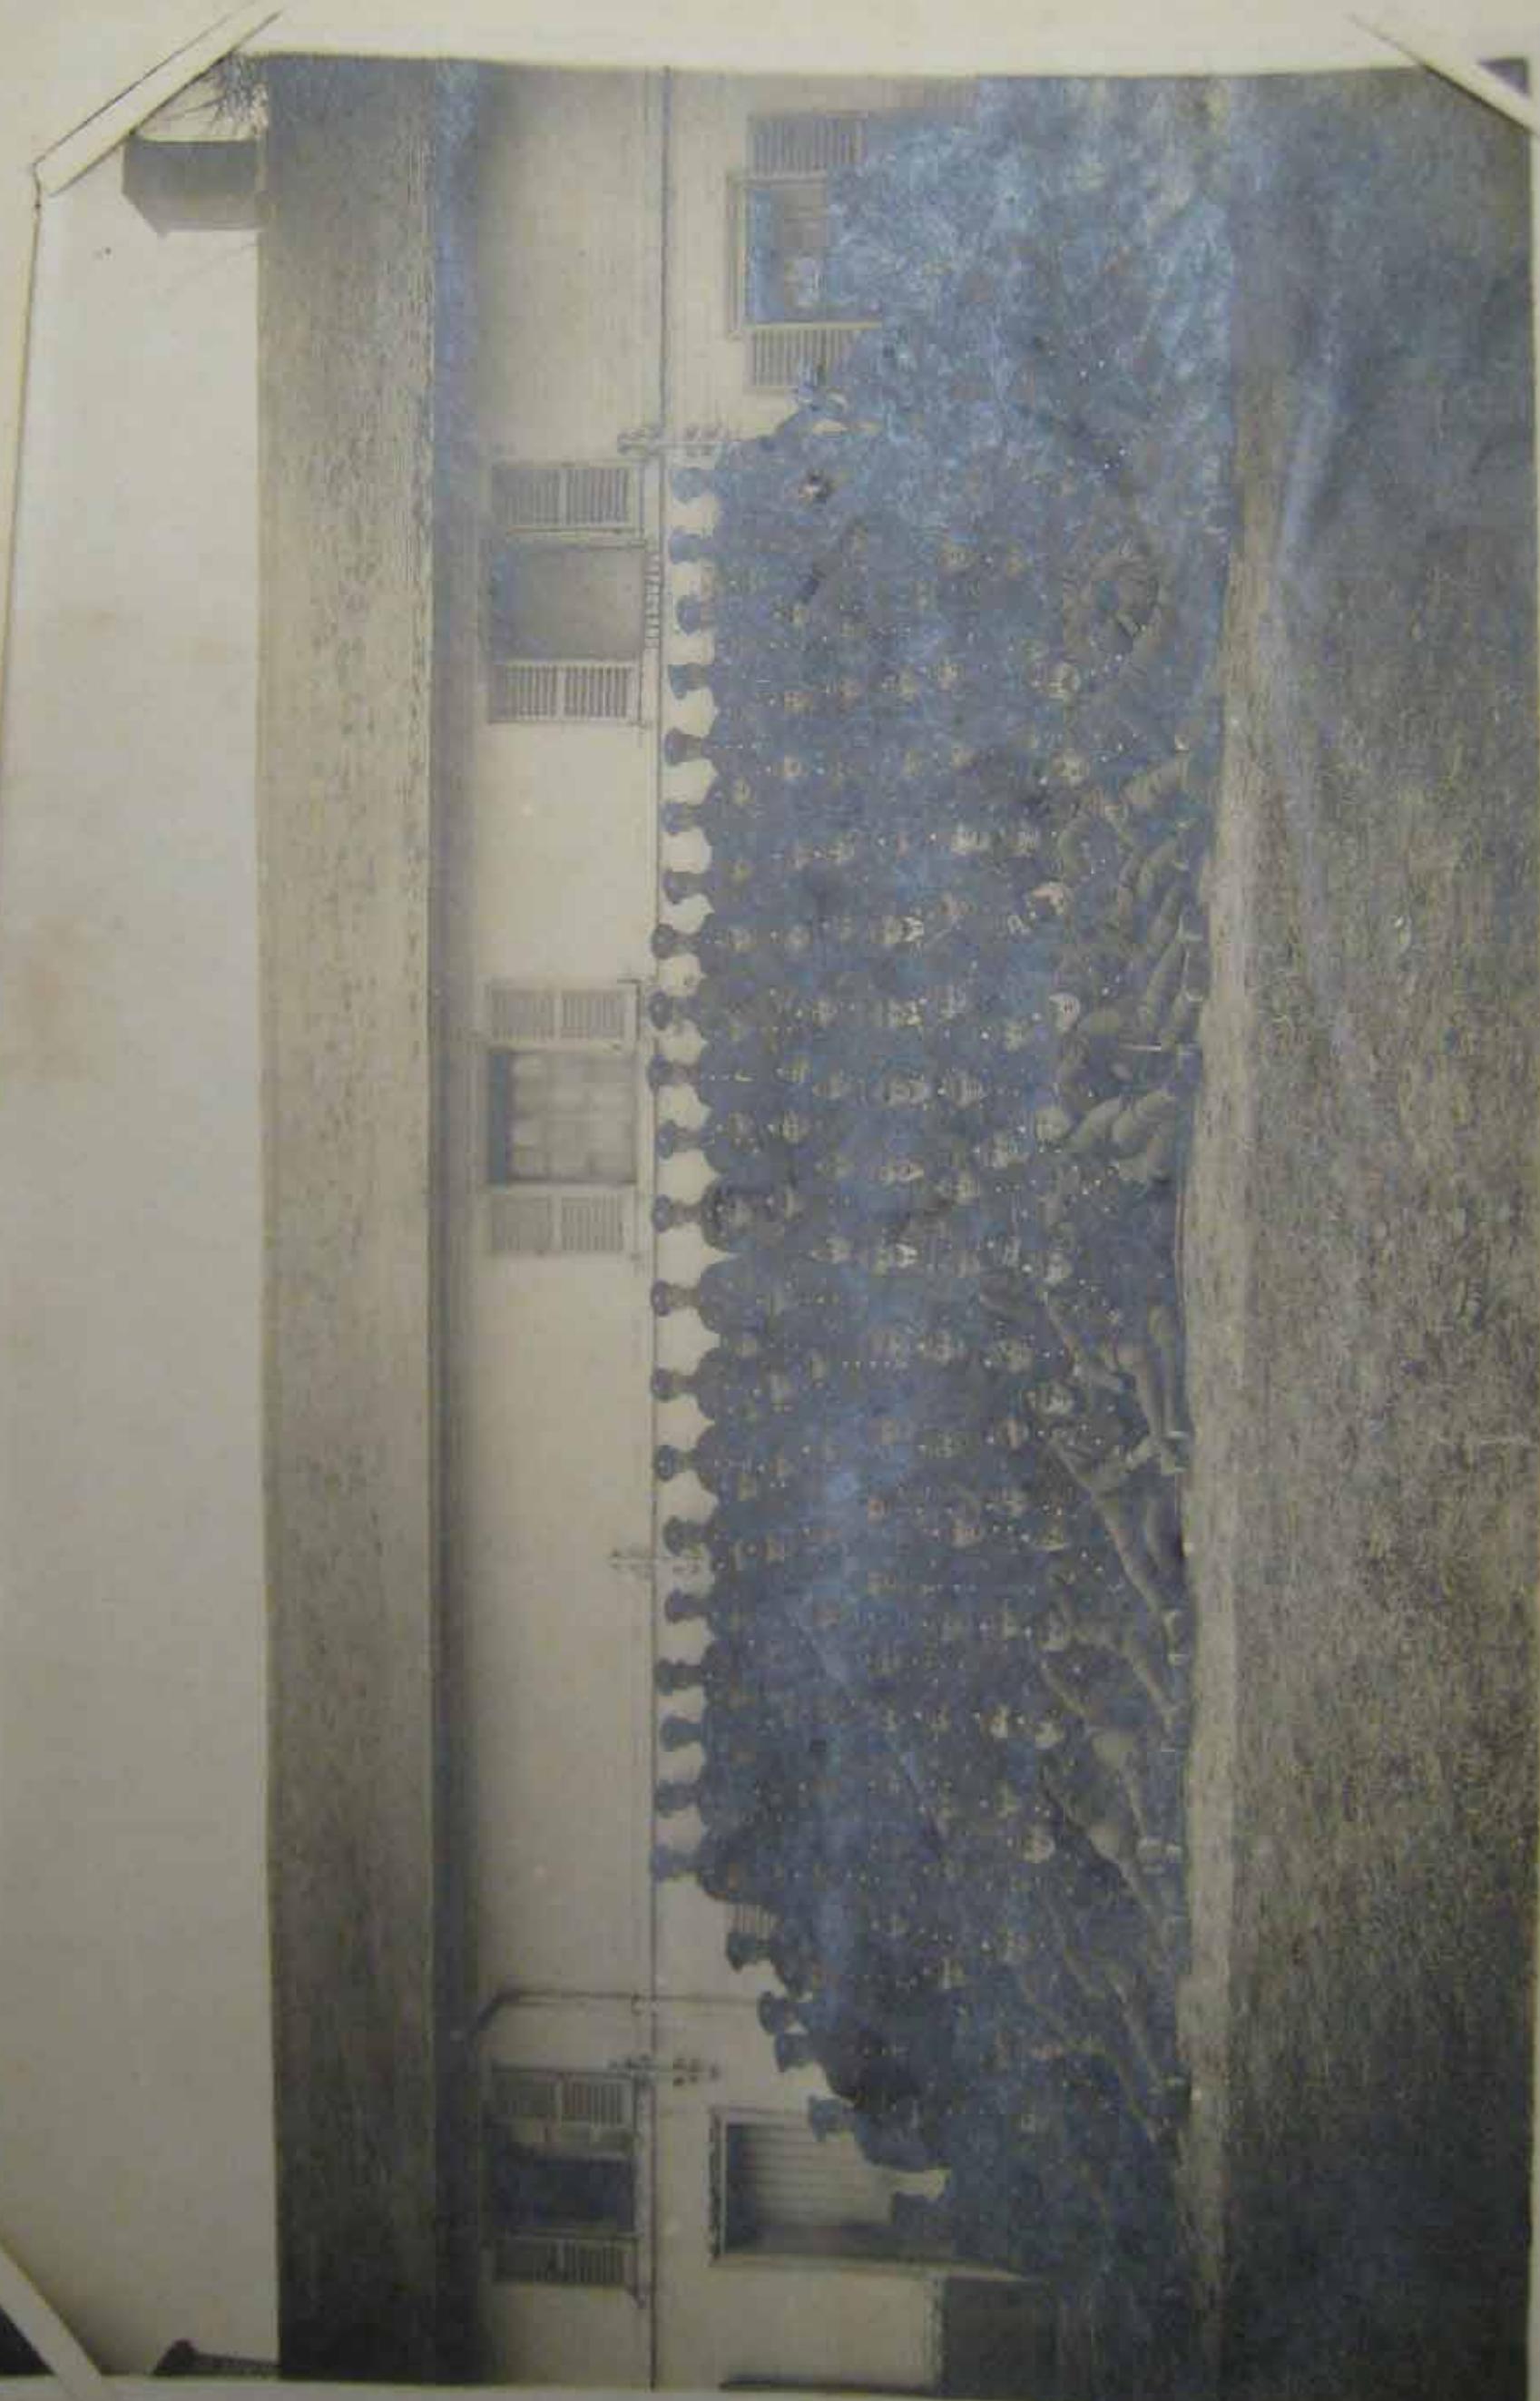

MAGAZINE

B'coy

A Christmas rhyme,
A Christmas chime,
And Christmas mirth,
By like o'er sea;
A Christmas wive
A Christmas wife
Merry Christmas whot
Wives like we.

"B" Coy. 1st R.G.L.I. B.E.F.

30
11/13

We Want To Know :—

How.

many other ranks will contribute to our correspondence column.

The joint Editors will welcome all letters of criticism or suggestion !!

When.

B Coy would like to have the next edition of La Folie Magazine thrust upon it !!

Where.

all the artists and short story writers in the Company — hang out. !!

Why.

it was not noticed by the referee or any spectator of one of the platoon league matches, that one team consisted of 12 players. !!

If.

rumour is correct which says that 2 officers of ~~C~~ Coy walked into a butchers shop in Berck Place and asked; — pointing to a carcass, "How much for that pig," and the butcher replied, "That is not a pig — It is a sheep" !!

Who.

Was the originator of the following — overheard on parade — "There goes — Q.M. He's got a voice like a jew's harp out of tune. !!

The.

P.T. book in which the following appears:-

"Hopping with feet astride; arms backward bend"

We Want To Know:—

How. a certain officer got a blackeye during a football match — when hands and arms must not be used. !!

What. "Madame" said when the football broke her window pane !!

When. the "Boys" would like to go Home !!

Who. is responsible for postponing our "Banquet" in the "Black Sheds" which was to be held on the 16th inst. !!

Whether. the reputed expert amongst our Lewis Gunners has yet found out how — when and where to regulate his "gas port" !!

Who. the officer, warrant officer, N.C.O. or man is, who is reputed to be an expert lead swinger. !!

If. our Transport men are less worried by "things from above" since the visit of the Fodder.

What. a certain officer said, when he found that Canteen only had "Woodbine" Was it "As you were" !!

We Want To Know:—

What.

people at home will think when they see the barrels in the photograph of La Folie!!!

The.

Composer of the music used by a certain officer, when giving words of command during Company Drill!!!

Why.

There is no candle issue in "B" Coy. !!

Who.

wrote the leading Article in a recent edition of the Guernsey Weekly Press on the R.G.L. and demobilisation. !!

What.

"B" Coy. thinks of it. !!
Correspondence is invited.

What.

punishment "Balistic" was awarded when he was marched in to Company Orders recently.

The Editors.

COOK COLLECTS FIREWOOD.

His Destiny.

What is the Kaiser's destiny?

In what is the braggart failed?
How he live and what will he do,
Now that he is in such a ducce of a stew
And finally abdicated?

Will he get a job on the music-halls
As Wilhelm the Potsdam Bully,
And work a turn with his silly son,
And be known to fame as the Back-chat Hun
And will he be booked up fully?

Or will his friends of the I.L.P.

Invite Wilhelm to lecture?
And will he, wearing the reddest ties,
On an orange-box sing "England Arise"?
Leave it to your conjecture.

For they've always loved him passing well,
In spite of his record ghastly,
So if they pity his wretched state,
They'll invite him to sing the song of Hale,
Which I'm told they admire so vastly.

Or is there growing for him a rope?

Is a scaffold being erected
Whereon to deliver a last address

To a world that mourns his wickedness?
'Tis a scheme to be resented!

Or shall we leave him to dark remorse
And its poisonous mangs of evil?

But, sooner or later, he's bound to go
To the master who taught him task of woe—
His friend and ally the Devil!

Scrambled.

Noé en Fraince

E' nowlé Noé s'apneurche pour le R.G.L.I. en Fraince, mai s'lannai non s'ra pu confortable qé l'annai passai é ni s'lannai nous a pas yeu ein "route-march" de tre jours dans la nee et la bos! Ky march qé s'hté là! les bions qui y'étaient n'rombiront pas vite shulte march là pour deu raisons - à cause du dur tems qu'ils eurent é à cause qé s'hté là la première fois que notre person Cornel vint d'avre non.

Y fau espérai que nous erra outaint de "narcels" sh'lannai coum l'annai passai - Dieu merci sra pas hour en faire une barricade.

Y a deu ou tre s'moines nous espérait allé su se hour Noé mai y n'a pas soin - avous oui l'ou shu'que notre Captoine et ses officiers sont a preparai pour non? Y sembe qe dans la pupart des autés Compagnies les hommes aiguient a payer - dans "Headquarlers" jusqu'à très frains chaque - mais dans chette chin - ha Compagnie - les officiers s'en vont payer hors d'leu narûles sidon shu'que ils ont r'chu de la Captoine et du "Deuxième Bataillon". J'ai oui que non s'en va ave du pourché rôti, des carottes c'des navets d'swède, blant d'bire qu'nou veur é, si le Cornel dounne sa permission - une fai d'rhum.

E' bion garçons, j'espaire qé vous eraï l'ou "a damn good time" é qé vous s'râi pas oblige d'allai voi l'Docleur le lendemain matin.

Catelain.

Belgians Who Beat Falkenhagen.

Little News Sheet the Huns Could Not Suppress.

What was the best-kept secret of the war? Those who know all the circumstances say that the secret publication of the little Belgian newspaper, la Belgique Libre, throughout the whole of the German occupation of Belgium, comes easily first.

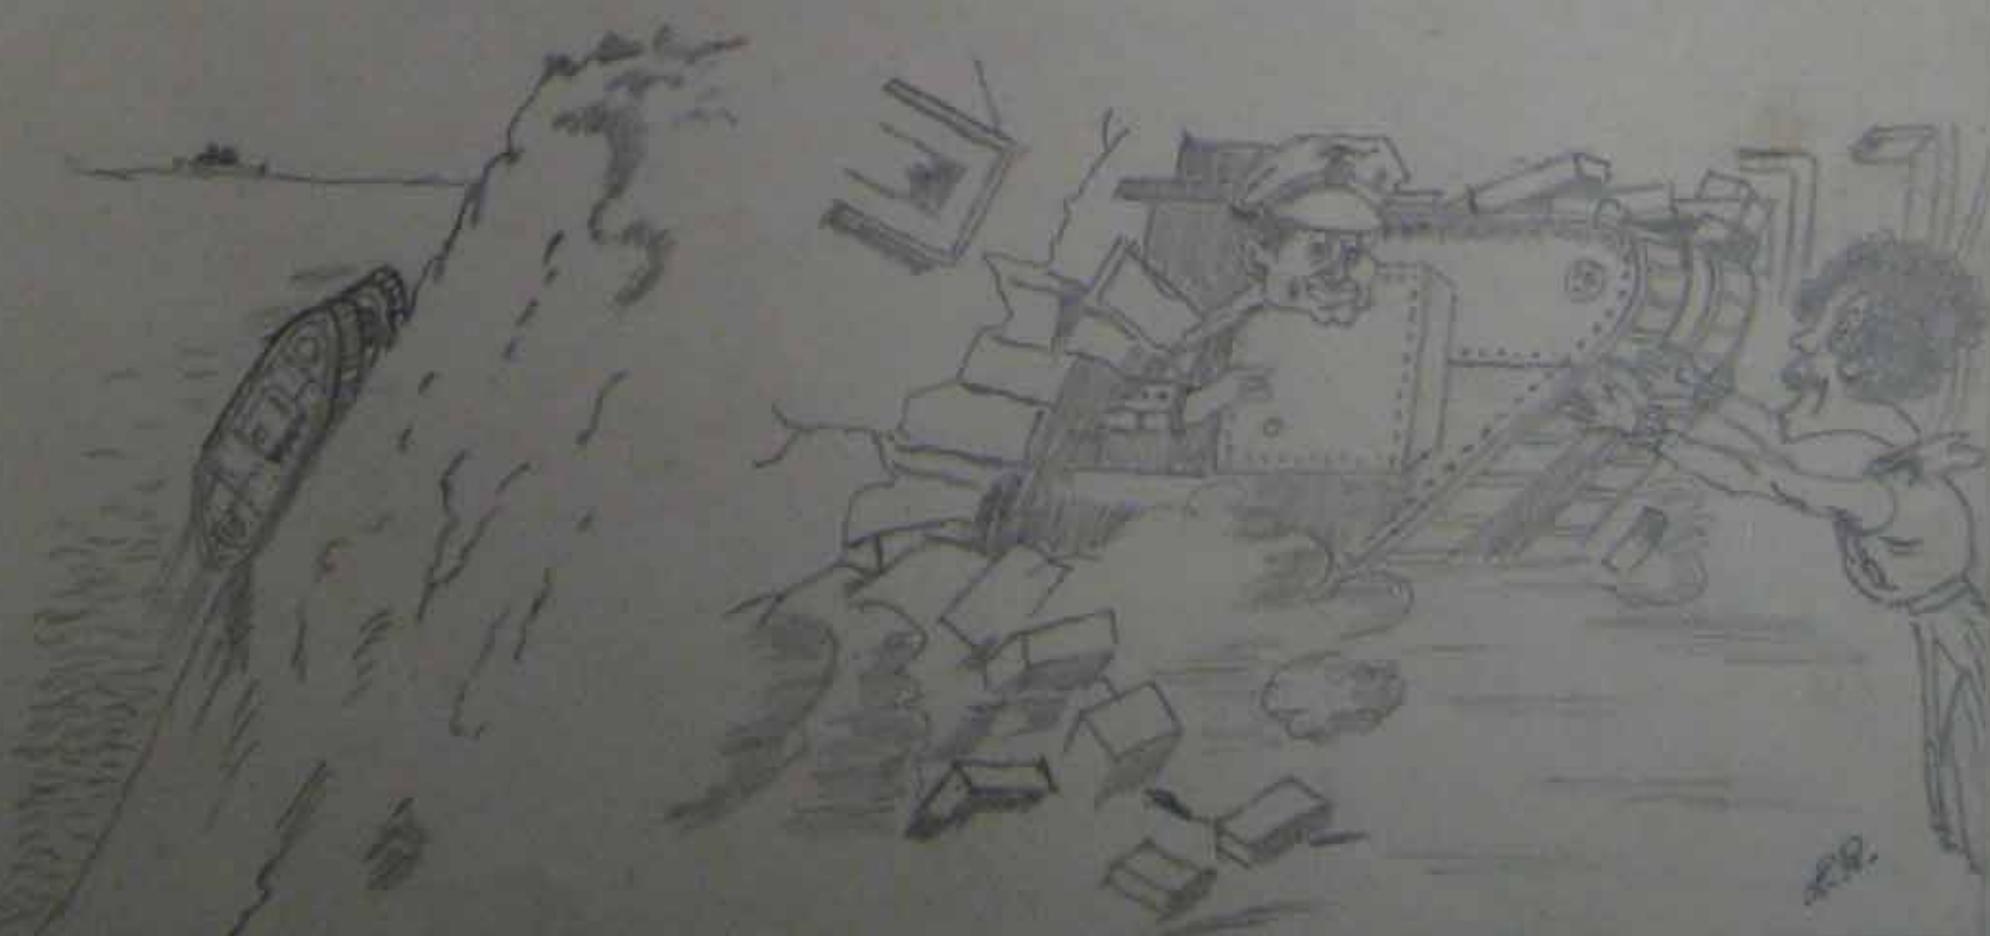

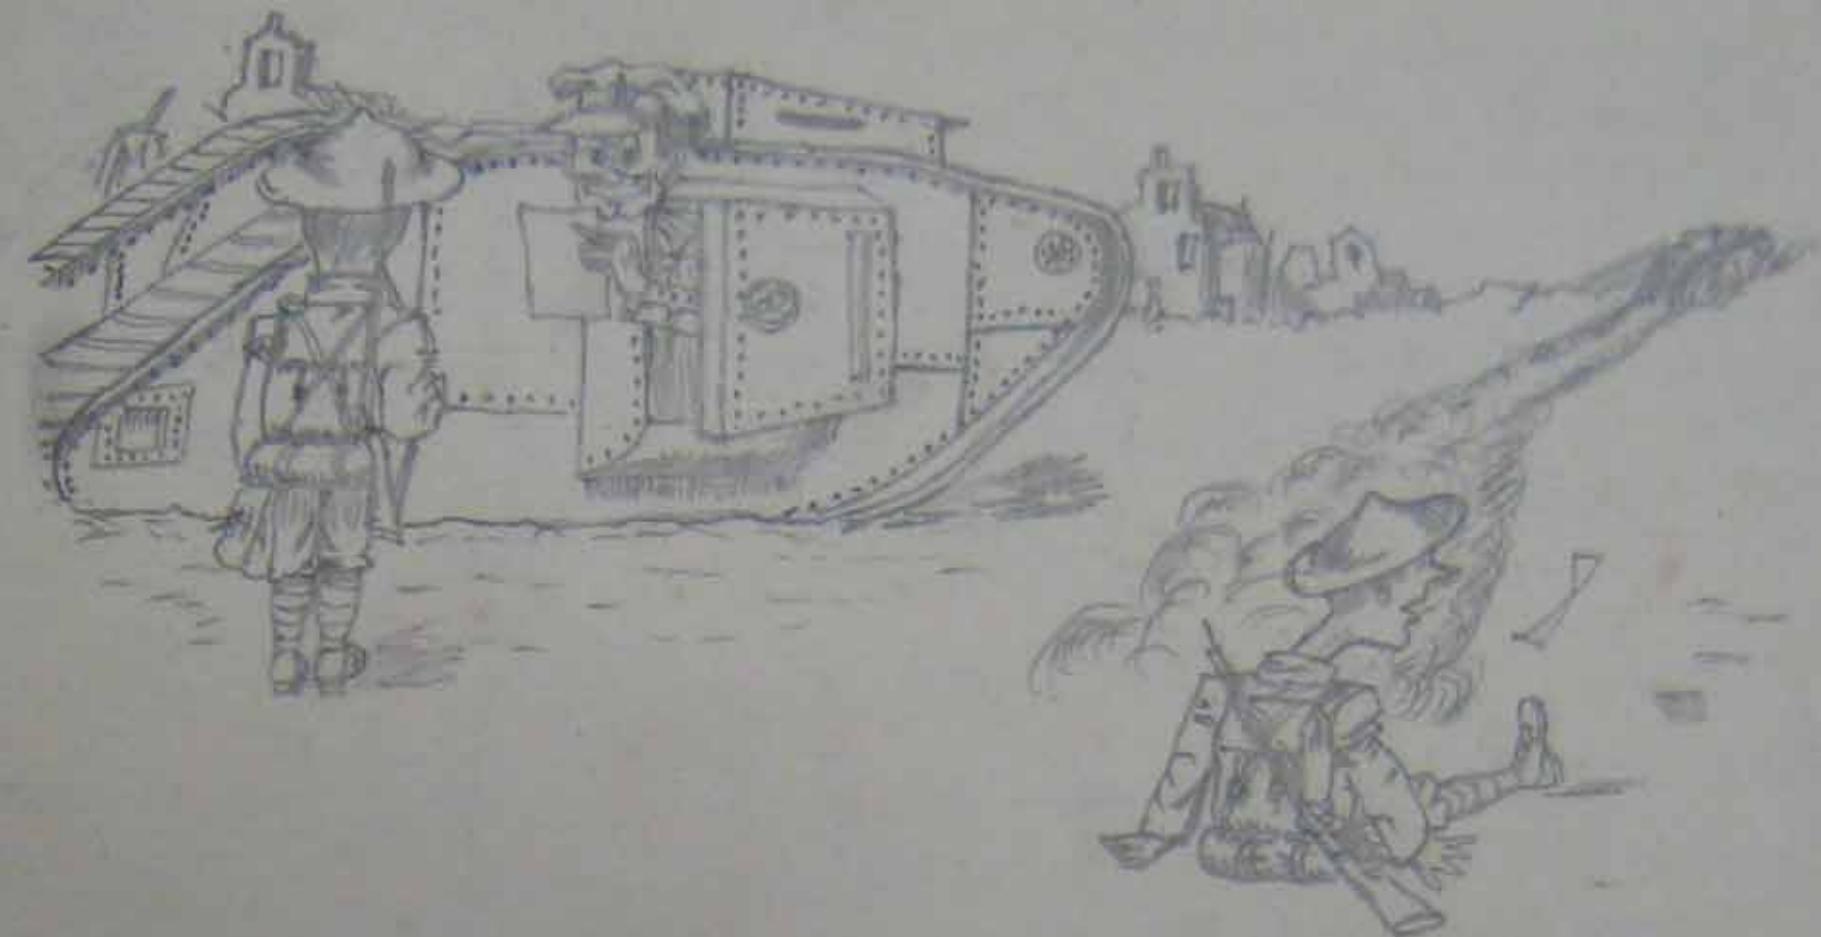

How was it done?

It was done by printing the paper at a different place each time. There were at least half a dozen editors. A great many Belgians knew the secret, but they never gave it away, in spite of all the efforts of the German spies.

In spite of the most ruthless efforts of the Huns to discover the editors and printers and suppress it, this heroic paper came out with articles full of contempt and scorn for the brutal oppressors of this gallant little nation. The paper was sometimes put in letter-boxes and sometimes pushed under doors. Once the Huns seized all the machines and type in Belgian printing-offices, but the paper still came out.

At one time the Germans were so hot on the scent that the paper was printed in Holland and smuggled across the frontier, the copies being wrapped round various commodities. In one issue the editor apologised for the smell of some of the copies as they had contained lumps of cheese, butter, and other grocery.

The most daring achievement of the paper happened quite recently. It was a trick played on the German Governor Von Falkenhagen which eclipsed the many clever tricks played on his predecessor, the notorious Von Bissing, who had a copy regularly delivered at his house. In one issue there appeared a cartoon of the Governor, with the inscription "Always be kind to dumb animals, Von Falkhausen." There was a facsimile of his signature, Falkhausen filled with rage, called together a special gathering of the elite of his spies. He gave a banquet of which 20 of these spies were present to discuss the best means of utterly suppressing the paper.

THE COURSE OF TRUE LOVE

Defiant "Open Letters."

Whatever was the scheme decided upon, it utterly failed to achieve its object. It is not recorded what Von Falkhausen said a few days later when the next issue appeared with a photograph of the banquet! Right up to the time of the armistice La Libre Belgique continued to appear. It is now issued as a daily paper.

The only information the Huns could get about the secret publication was contained in the front page of the paper itself. It contained the following announcement:-

Price per copy - varying from zero to the infinite (distributors not to exceed this limit).

" Bulletin of Patriotic Propaganda.

" Regularly Irregular,

" Submitting to no Censorship.

" Telegraphic Address: Kommandantur, Brussels. General offices are installed in an automobile cellar, owing to the impossibility of having them in a stationary place.

" Advertisements: Business being at a standstill, we have suppressed our advertisement page and advise our supporters to save their money for better times."

Each issue opened with a letter addressed to the Governor-General, and breathing defiance and scorn.

Two agents responsible for distributing the paper were caught, but the printing press was never found.

A reward of £4000 was offered for any information leading to the detection of the staff, but although large numbers of people were arrested most of them had to be released owing to no evidence.

(Daily Chronicle)

Two men went into a restaurant in Salonika, and asked for a bit of Turkey without Greece.

The waiter said! I am busy — I can't Servia

The men got angry and shouted

"There'll be a Crimea if you don't call the Bosphorus"

When the Boss came, he said!

Very sorry, I don't want to Russia but you can't Rumania.
So they had to go away Hungary.

Once On A Time

There is a legend in one of the Departments of Whitehall that there was once a man who knew within a hundred or two, the number of orders which had been issued in Dora's name.

Please Remember

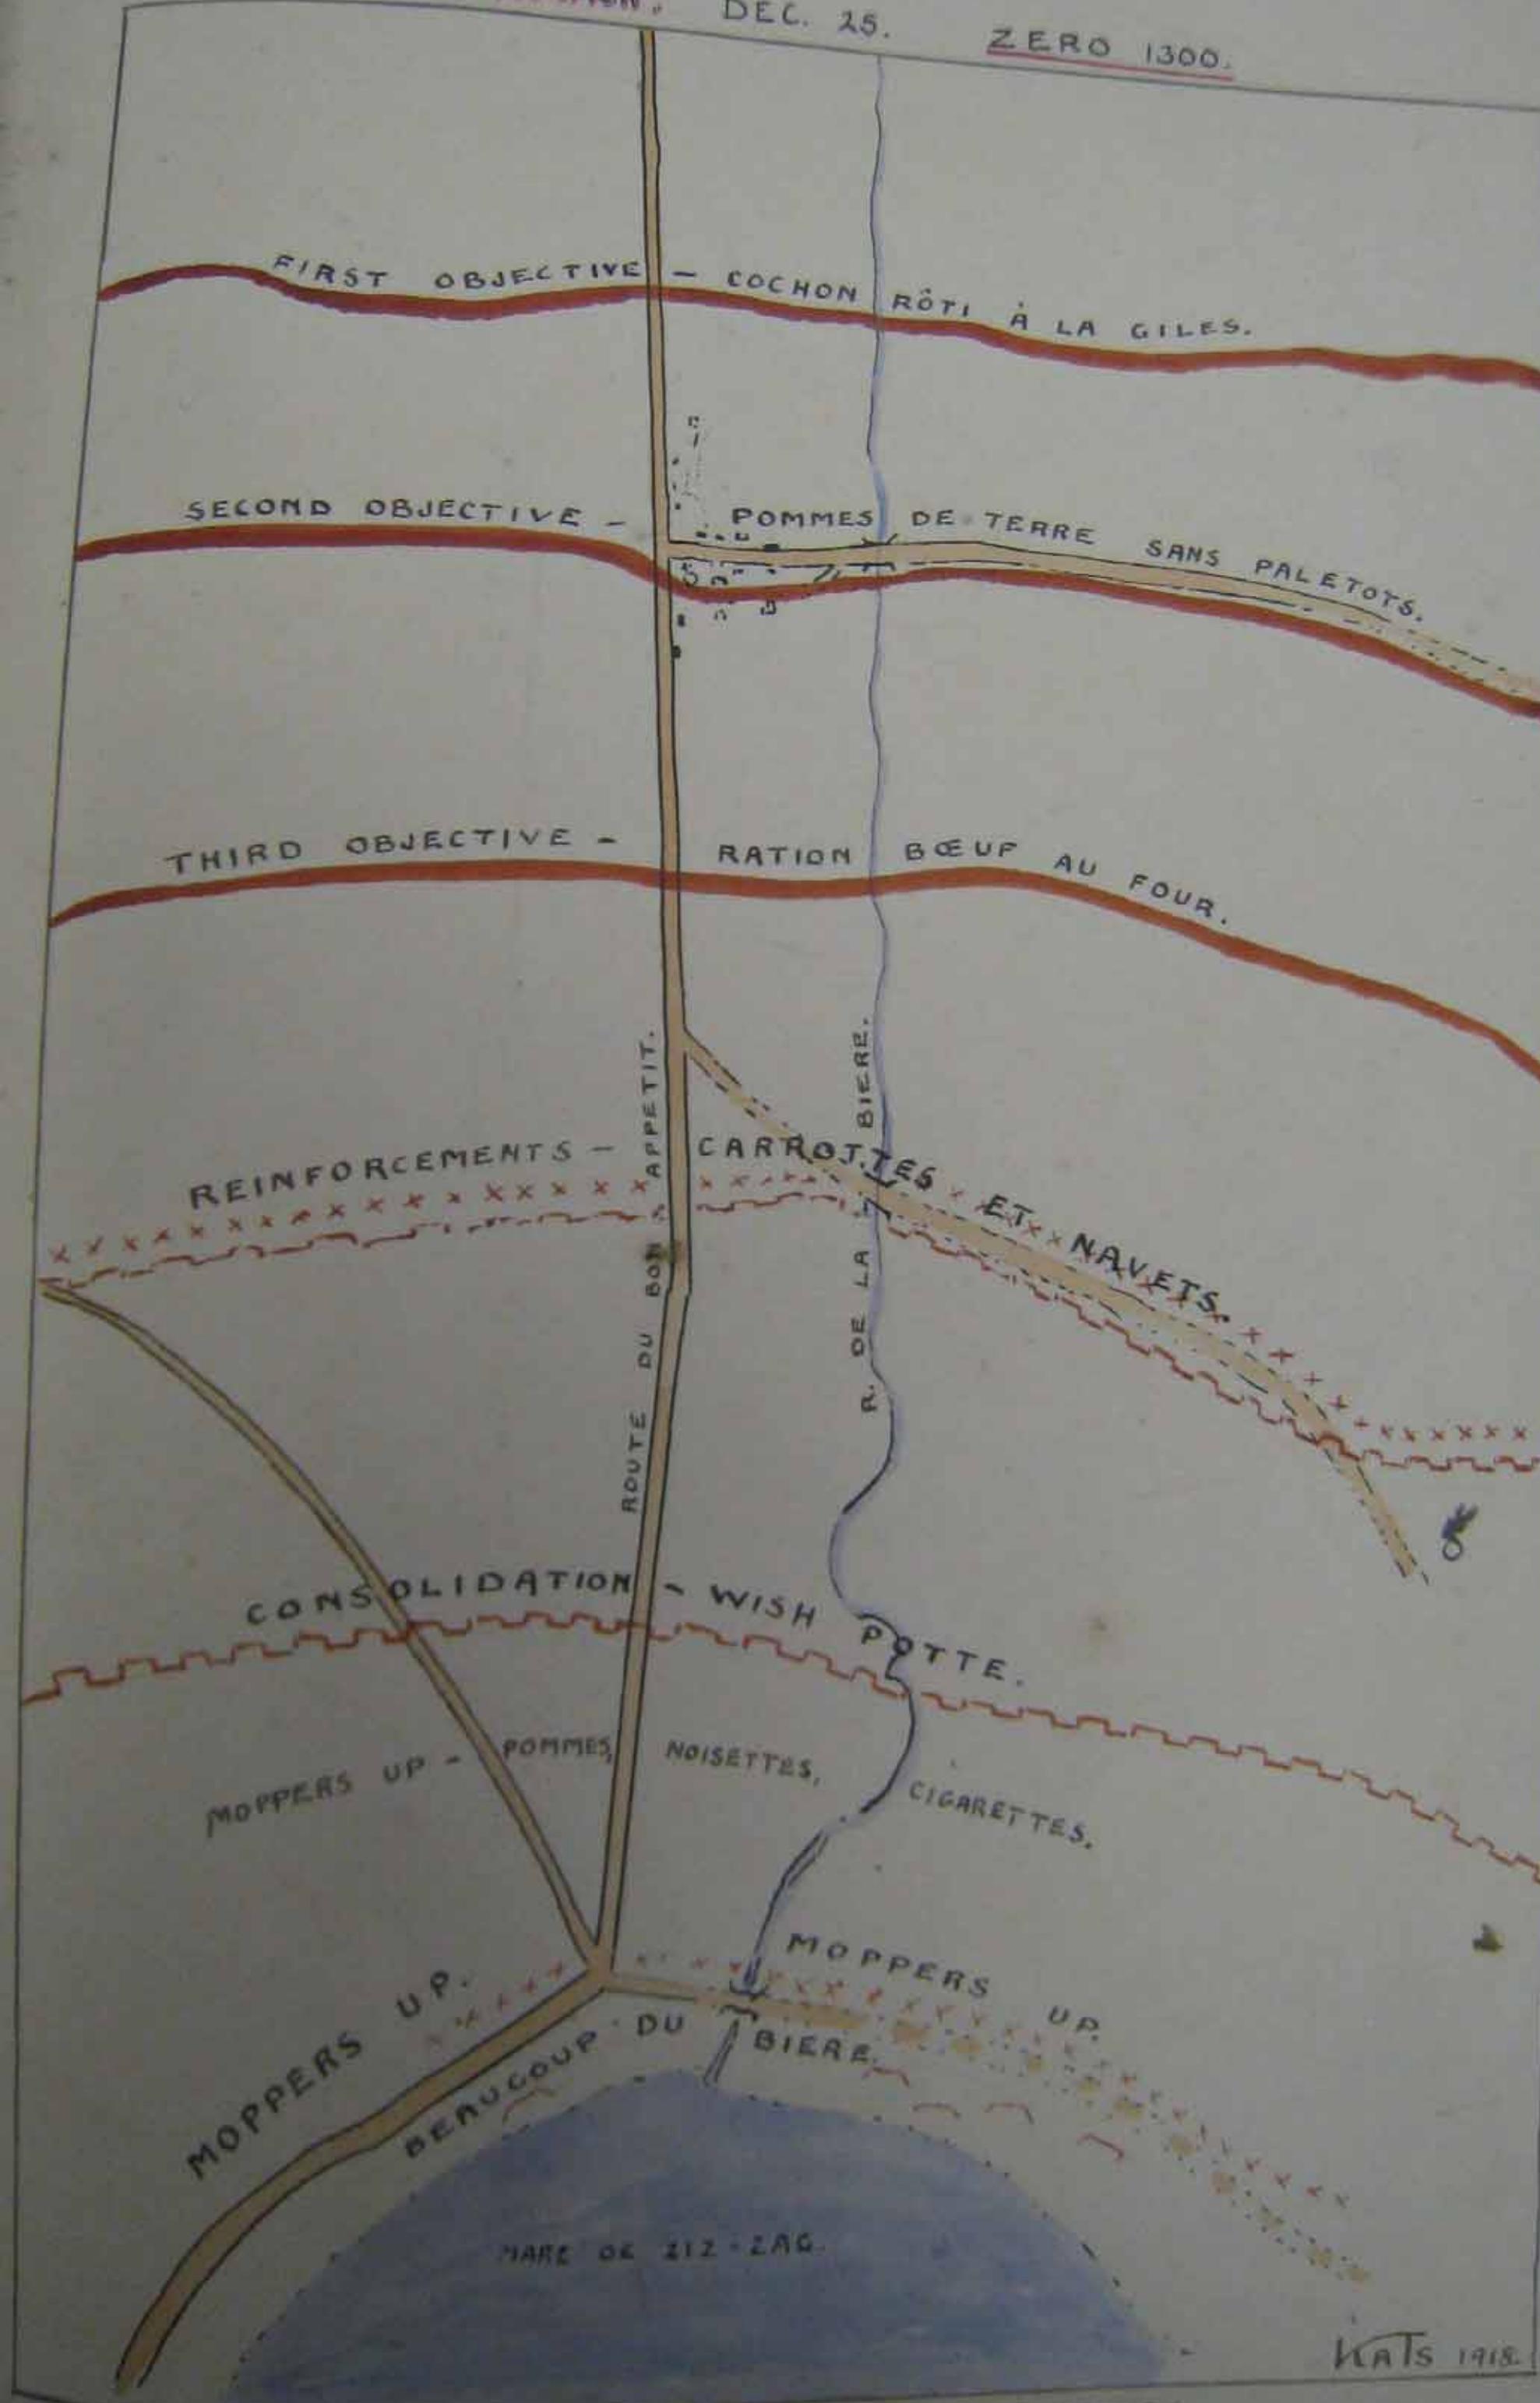

A friend in this world is a golden thread in a very dusty cobweb.

B COY. INN ATTACK.

DEC. 25.

ZERO 1300.

15.

BARRAGE LIFTS AND STRETCHER-BEARERS
ARRIVE AT 1400.

Our "Non" Column.

Non — we'll not have to commandeer the entire salt output this year if sprinkle on the peace dove's tail. He will come without salting.

Non — "wrapped" and "rapid" are not as much alike as they sound, when they are applied to spiral leggings.

Non — the bugles are not to be thrown away after demobilization of the front. They will be used by the autoists in place of cloxons, to wake up the pedestrians who are communally inclined.

Non — A bold headed man does not get as much comfort out of a steel helmet as he does out of a well-fitted nightcap.

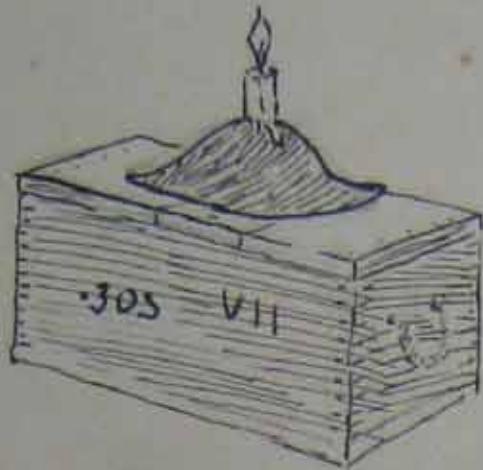

Spiker.

A Xmas Toosl

Here's a health to all those that I love,
 And a health to all those that love me.
 And a health to all those that love those that I love.
 And to all those that love those that love me.

Here's health and good luck to my wife's husband

THE OFFICE BOY'S PAGE.

17.

The Editor as asked me to write

On a page we is now magizene

I'm doinge mi best wir a rotten old pen

The da crookedest I ever seen

I'm ~~doing~~ ^{doing} ~~the~~ best using some stuff that the French calls encore.

But the wind is blowing mi kandle.

The light has gone out, I've broken my pen

so I am finishing up wir the handle.

MATS. 1918.

Going One Worse.

Corp:- Can you think of anything more unmilitary than putting your hands in your pockets?

Sarg:- Sure! Putting your hands in somebody else's pocket.

Mother (Cooked) Goose.

Kaiser Bill went up the hill
To drive the world to slaughter.
Bill fell down and lost his crown,
And Hindy tumbled after.

Quel Malheur!

A cavalry lieutenant ripped a hole in the seat of his 200-franc riding breeches.
A private who had more sense of humor than tact remarked, quite audibly "That's what you might call 'the rift in the heart'"
His fate has not been posted on the bulletin board as yet.

A PAGE OF PUZZLES

PRODUCED OR RESUSCITATED BY "INGÉNIEUR."

19.

- No. 1. - Read the following sentences, which are sound common sense:-
(a) If the Bmt put:
(b) If the B. putting:

No. 2. - A sentence of nine words:- B e D.

No. 3. - Place three matches on any flat surface, thus:-
Add three more matches, to make three more triangles: A total of four triangles.

No. 4. - Place 8 draughtsmen on a draughts board in such a way that each piece is on a separate and distinct line. In other words, no piece must be on the same line as another piece.

No. 5. - WORD DECAPITATIONS.

These are created by taking away the first letter of a word or name, the remaining letters forming another word or name.

Example - A Fish beheaded leaves a Bad Defeat.

Answer:- TROUT = T - ROUT.

Try the following, which are formed with names of men in "B" Company:-

(a) A LETTER beheaded leaves an EXCLAMATION OF ASSENT.

(b) A LOCK-MAKER " " THE CENTRE.

(c) An OUTDOOR GAME " " A NUMBER OF BIRDS.

(d) A NAME " " A COLOUR and a RIVER CROSSING.

Three Prizes are offered for the best solutions to the above. Editors' decision final. Solutions, with No. and name of sender, to reach Editors by Jan. 11, 1919. Correct solutions and names of winners will be published in No. 3 of LA FOLIES MAGAZINE.

Correspondence Column.

Letters to the Editors, on any subject, are invited for the next issue.

Advertisements inserted free.
We are waiting for yours.

Address all communications to

The Editors

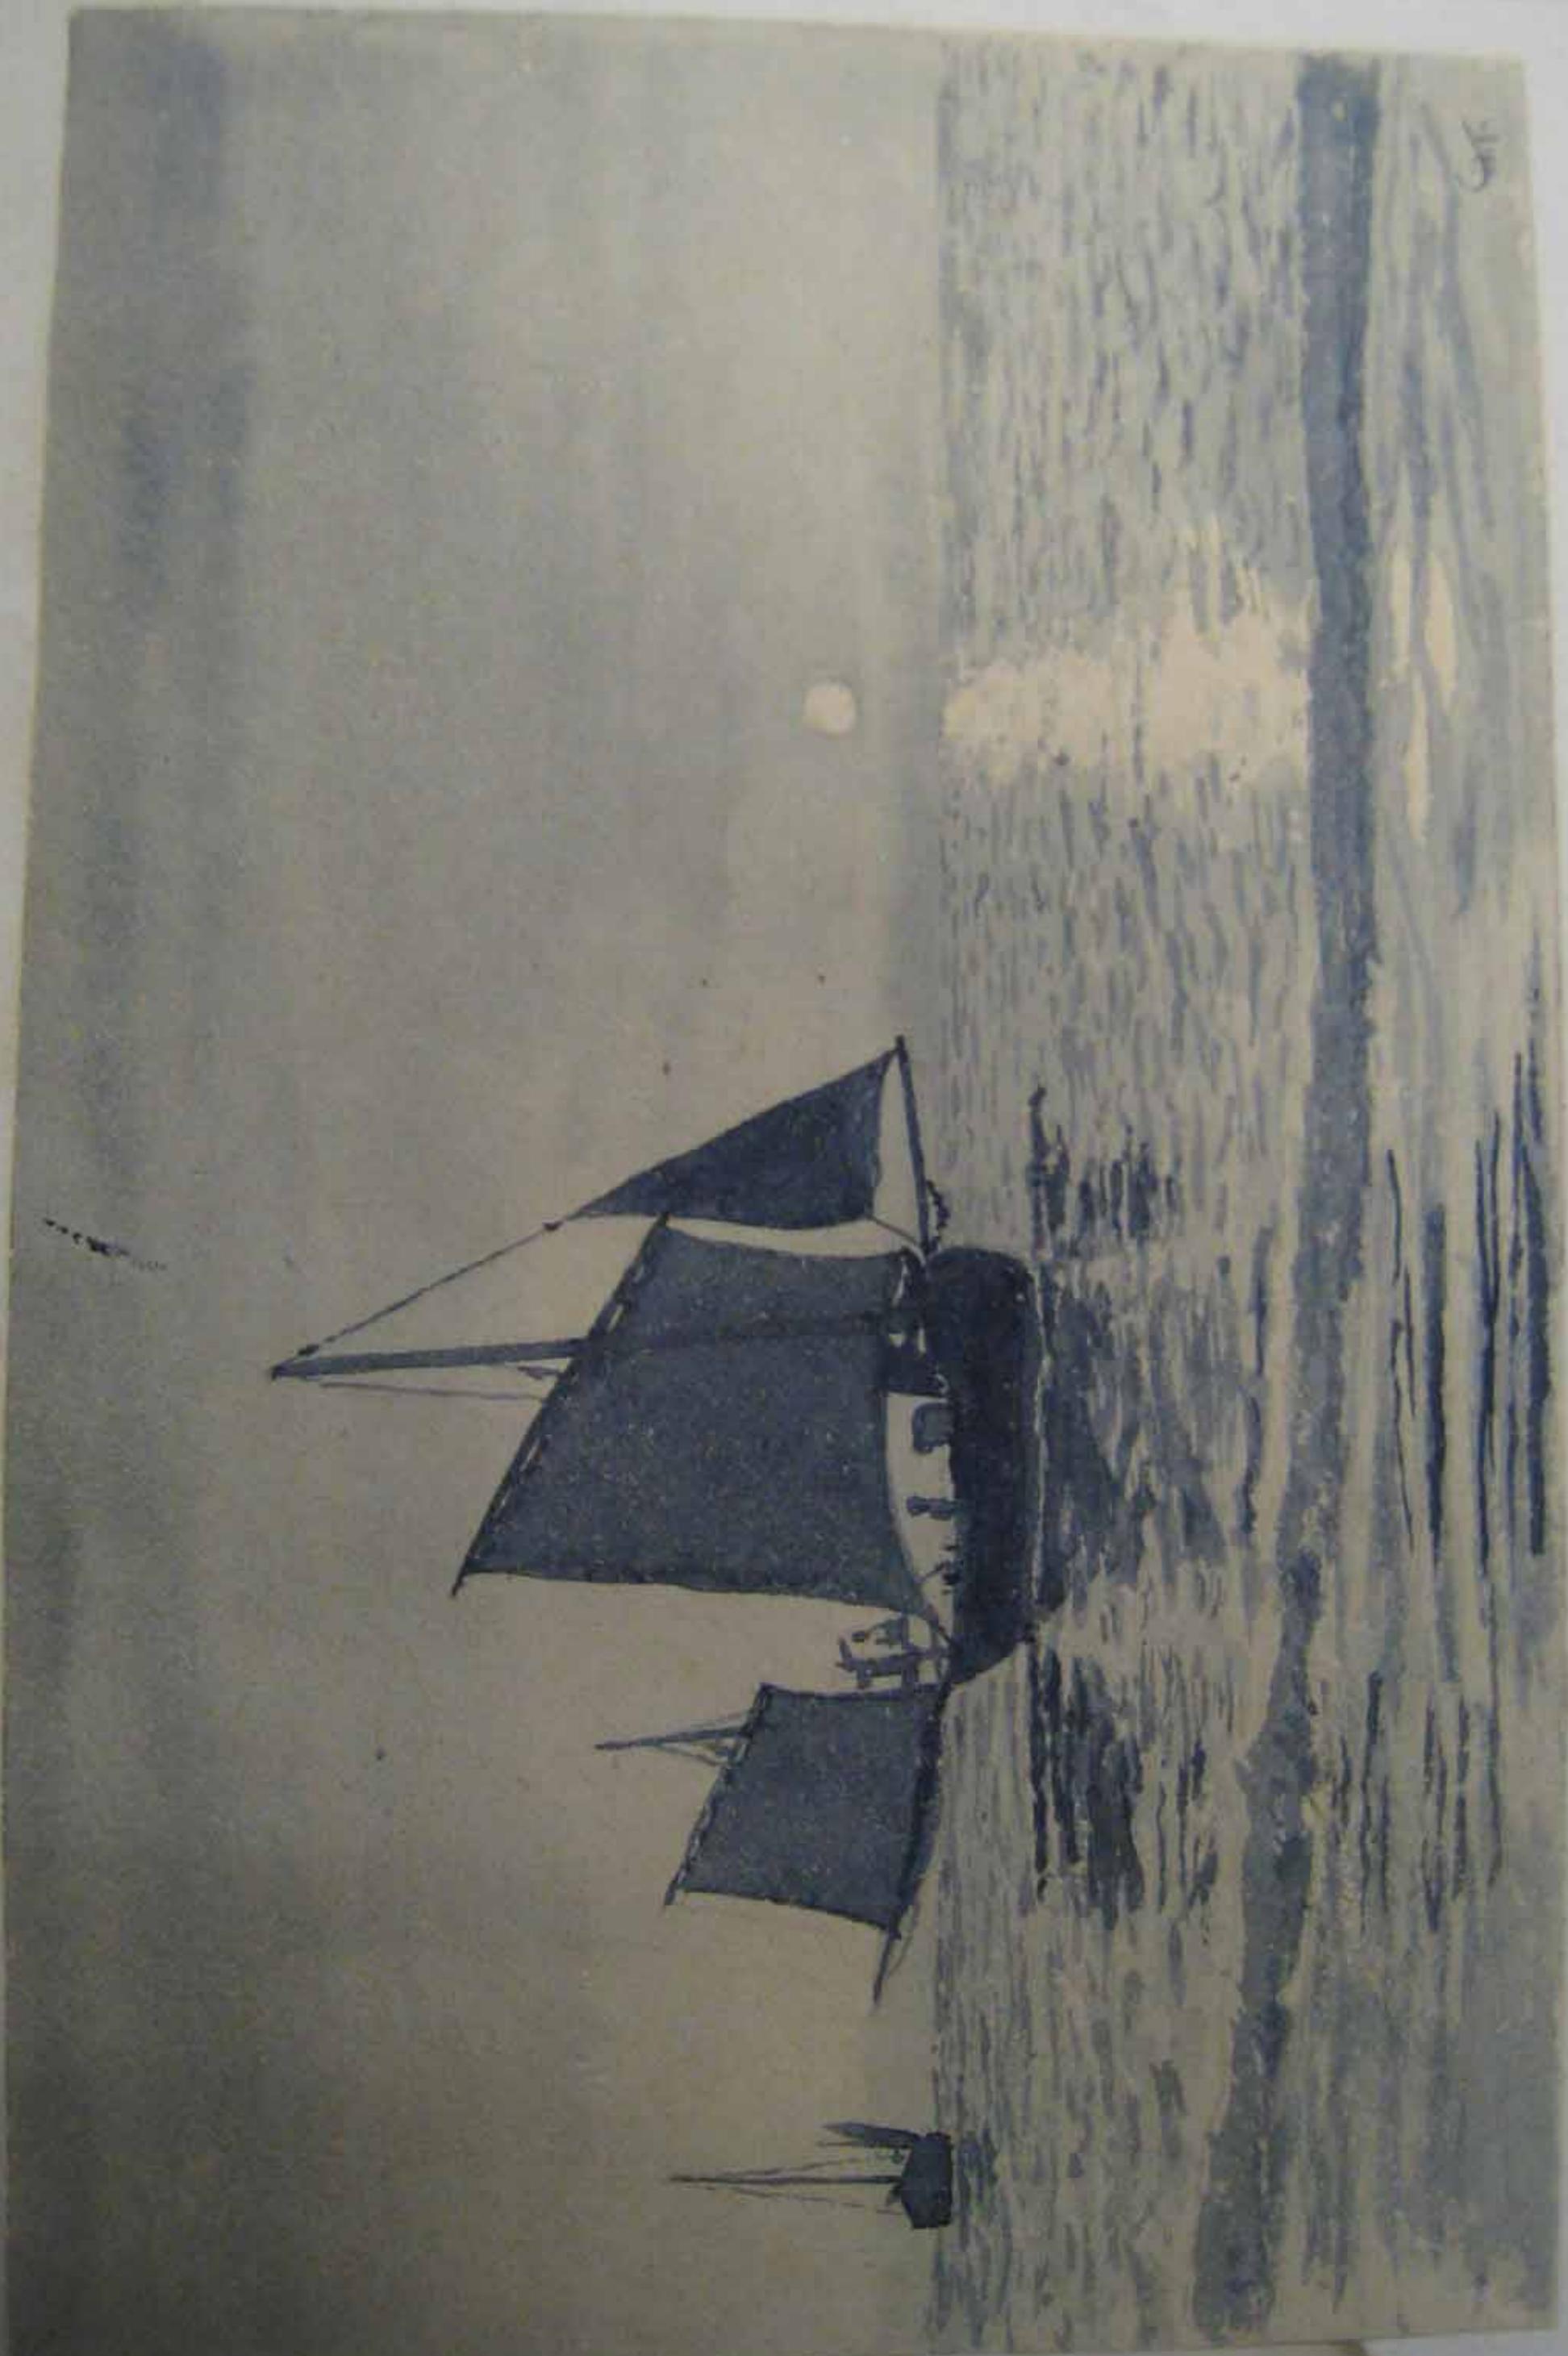

Lee Folies Magazine

"B" Coy.

Officers Mess.

Fini S.

Damn — Good !! Damn — Good !!

Berck Fishing Craft. - Sunset.

D 1855

